The screenshot shows the Compressor.io website interface. On the left, there is a sidebar with the site's logo, a description of the tool, and a list of supported features. The main area displays a comparison between the original image and the compressed version. The original image is a green iguana on a log, with a file size of 700 KB. The compressed version is the same image but with a file size of 250 KB, resulting in a 64% file size compression. A 'TRY IT !' button is located below the comparison.
